Anonymous asked:
Perhaps you are not like him, perhaps at times you can be worse. You know you can be better though. You've dug yourself into quite a hole, first stop digging, then try climbing.

Anonymous asked:
Nothing like him? Well, sure. The Master never hit Minuette. But you have.

crisscross-batter-and-puppeteer asked:
Doc, if anyone's to blame for your relapse, I guess it would be us. After all, we're the ones who told you about Patience and the Master. Was that any of our business? Was it any of yours?

I have a feeling Discord would have found a way to make me find out one way or another.

crisscross-batter-and-puppeteer asked:
I get it. You're mad. Everyone else is holding you accountable, but who's holding the Master accountable? Has he really answered for all the terrible things he's done? Do his kids and associates know about his crimes? And yet you're expected to air your laundry to everyone in every dimension. I smell a double standard.

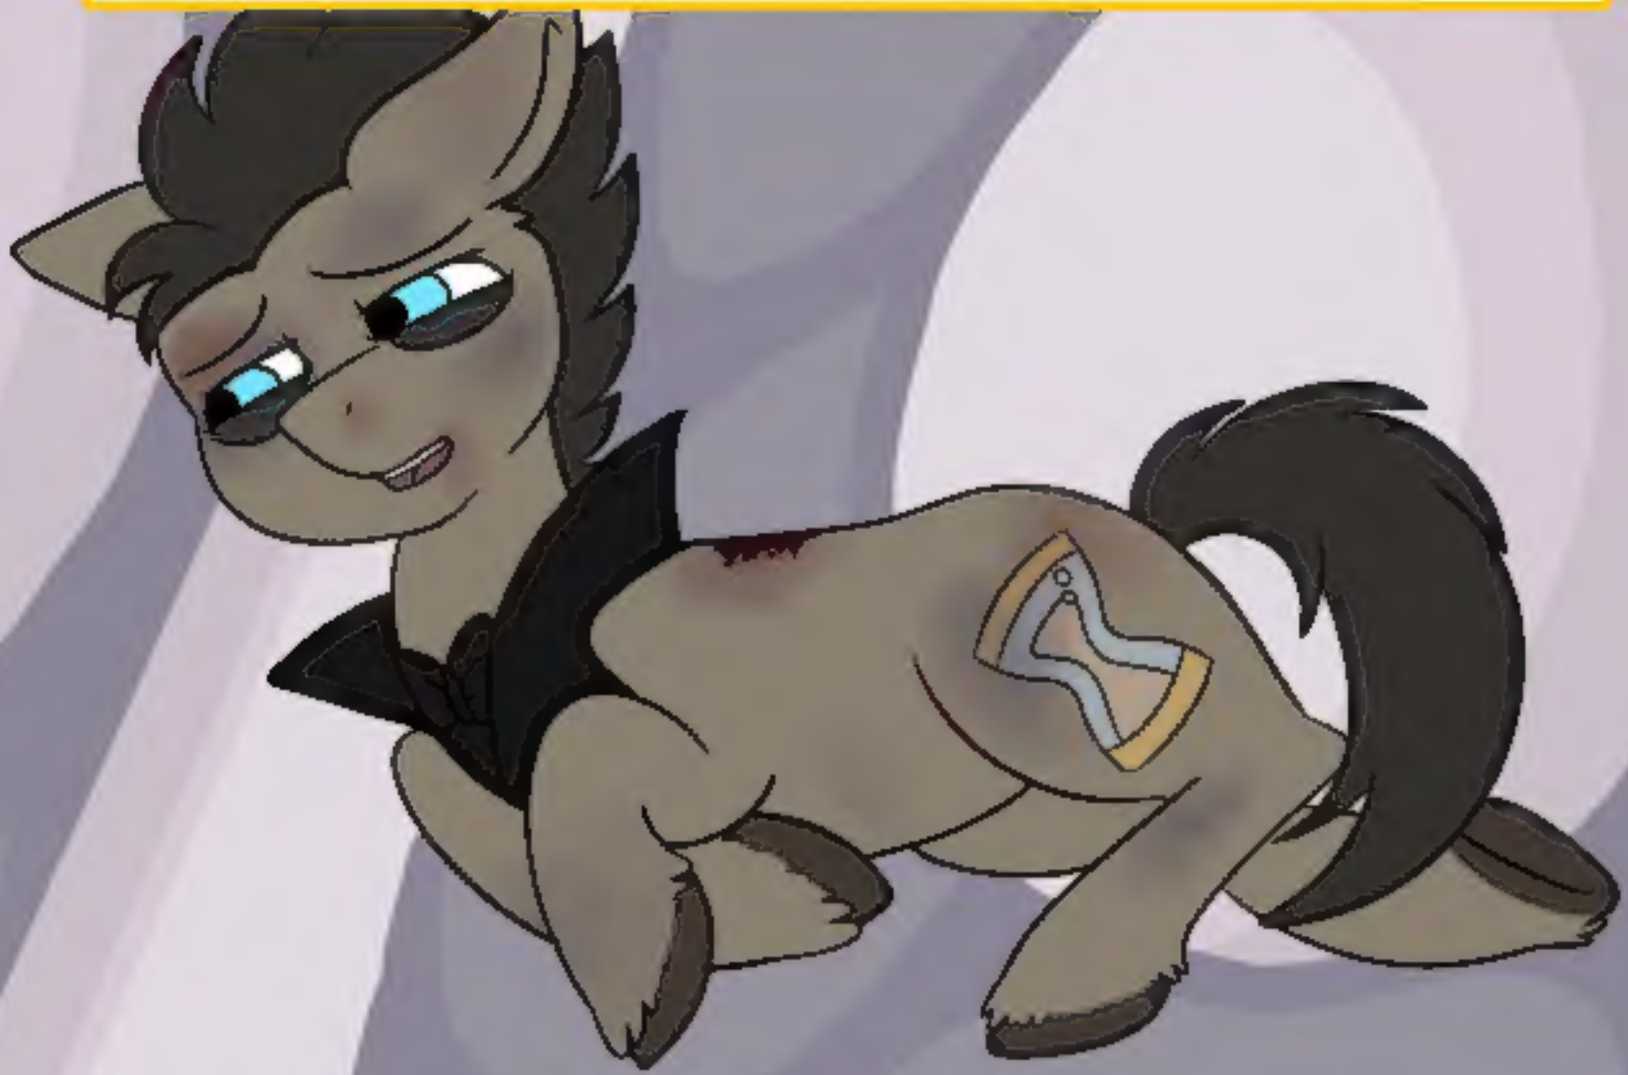
Anonymous asked:

This whole time, you've been keeping your distance to protect everyone haven't you Doc? Not just from what you might do but to keep the chaos energy away. Wow, we were so quick to judge you and it turns out you never stopped being a hero.

Anonymous asked:
NO DOC, you're more than just some puppet. You always help everyone even when you needed help. You've made a lot of people happy through out the adventures, even when some bad things happen.

Anonymous asked:
We're still here wether you like it or not. Sometimes we hurt you, sometimes we help you. No matter how bad you get we'll still try and work out ways to get rid of the damn curse. Time and time again our best intentions will be sabotaged and our worst intentions will be presented to hit hard, yet we'll keep trying.
I can tell there are a lot less of you now though. That many of you are gone, probably sick and tired of me.

teakayblog asked:
Twilight's showing you genuine care & understanding. And she's right, substance abuse fundamentally changes your brain chemistry. I'll bet the chaos magic has fundamentally changed it as well. Recovery's a squiggly line & it's okay. What's important is going for as long a stretch as you can of trying to be better in between falling back into bad stuff. It's tough as hell, but so are you. You can do this.

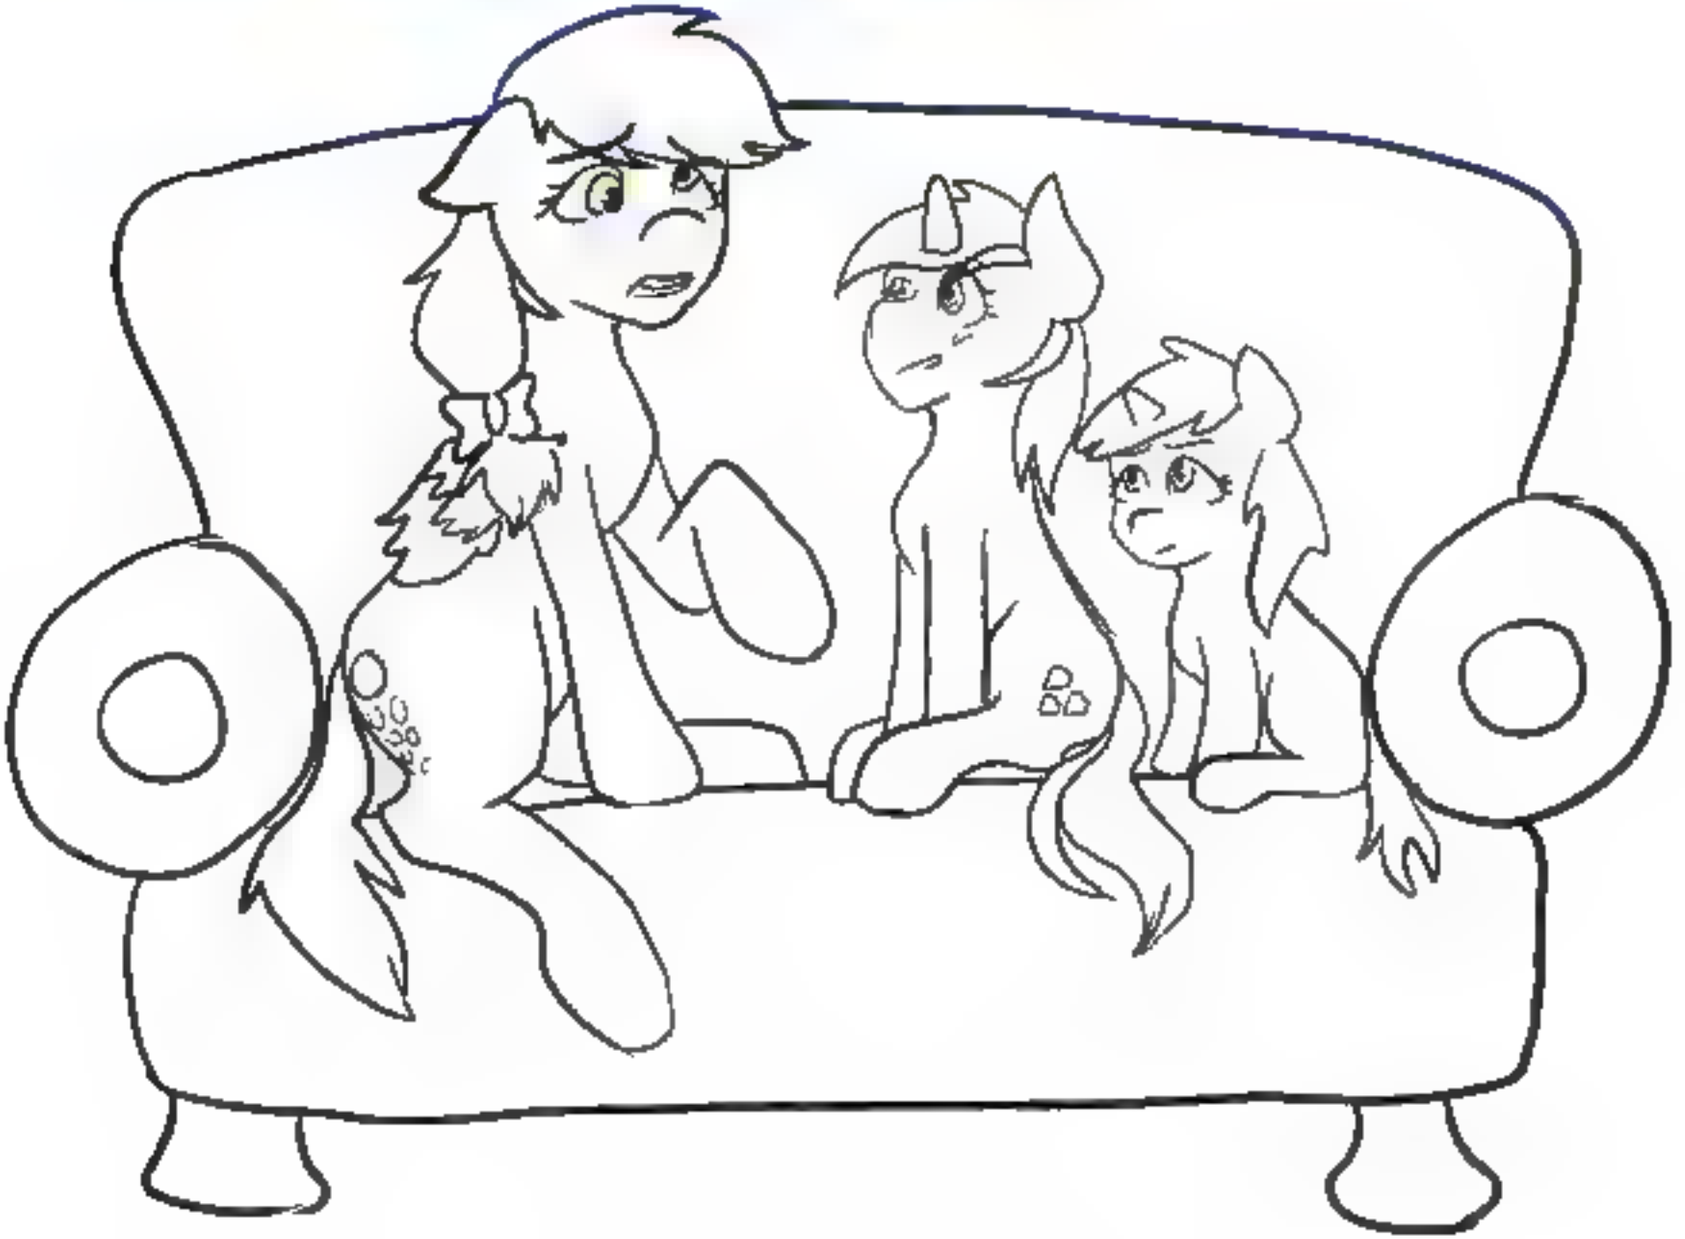


Do I really have a choice at this point?

I'm happy to be back!

But girls... We need to talk about some important things. Things I've been quiet about, things that are going to change. Come with me.

Firstly, it's getting too dangerous in Equestria right now. I'm afraid it's not safe for us to stay here. That's why all of us are going to move to a secret base together.

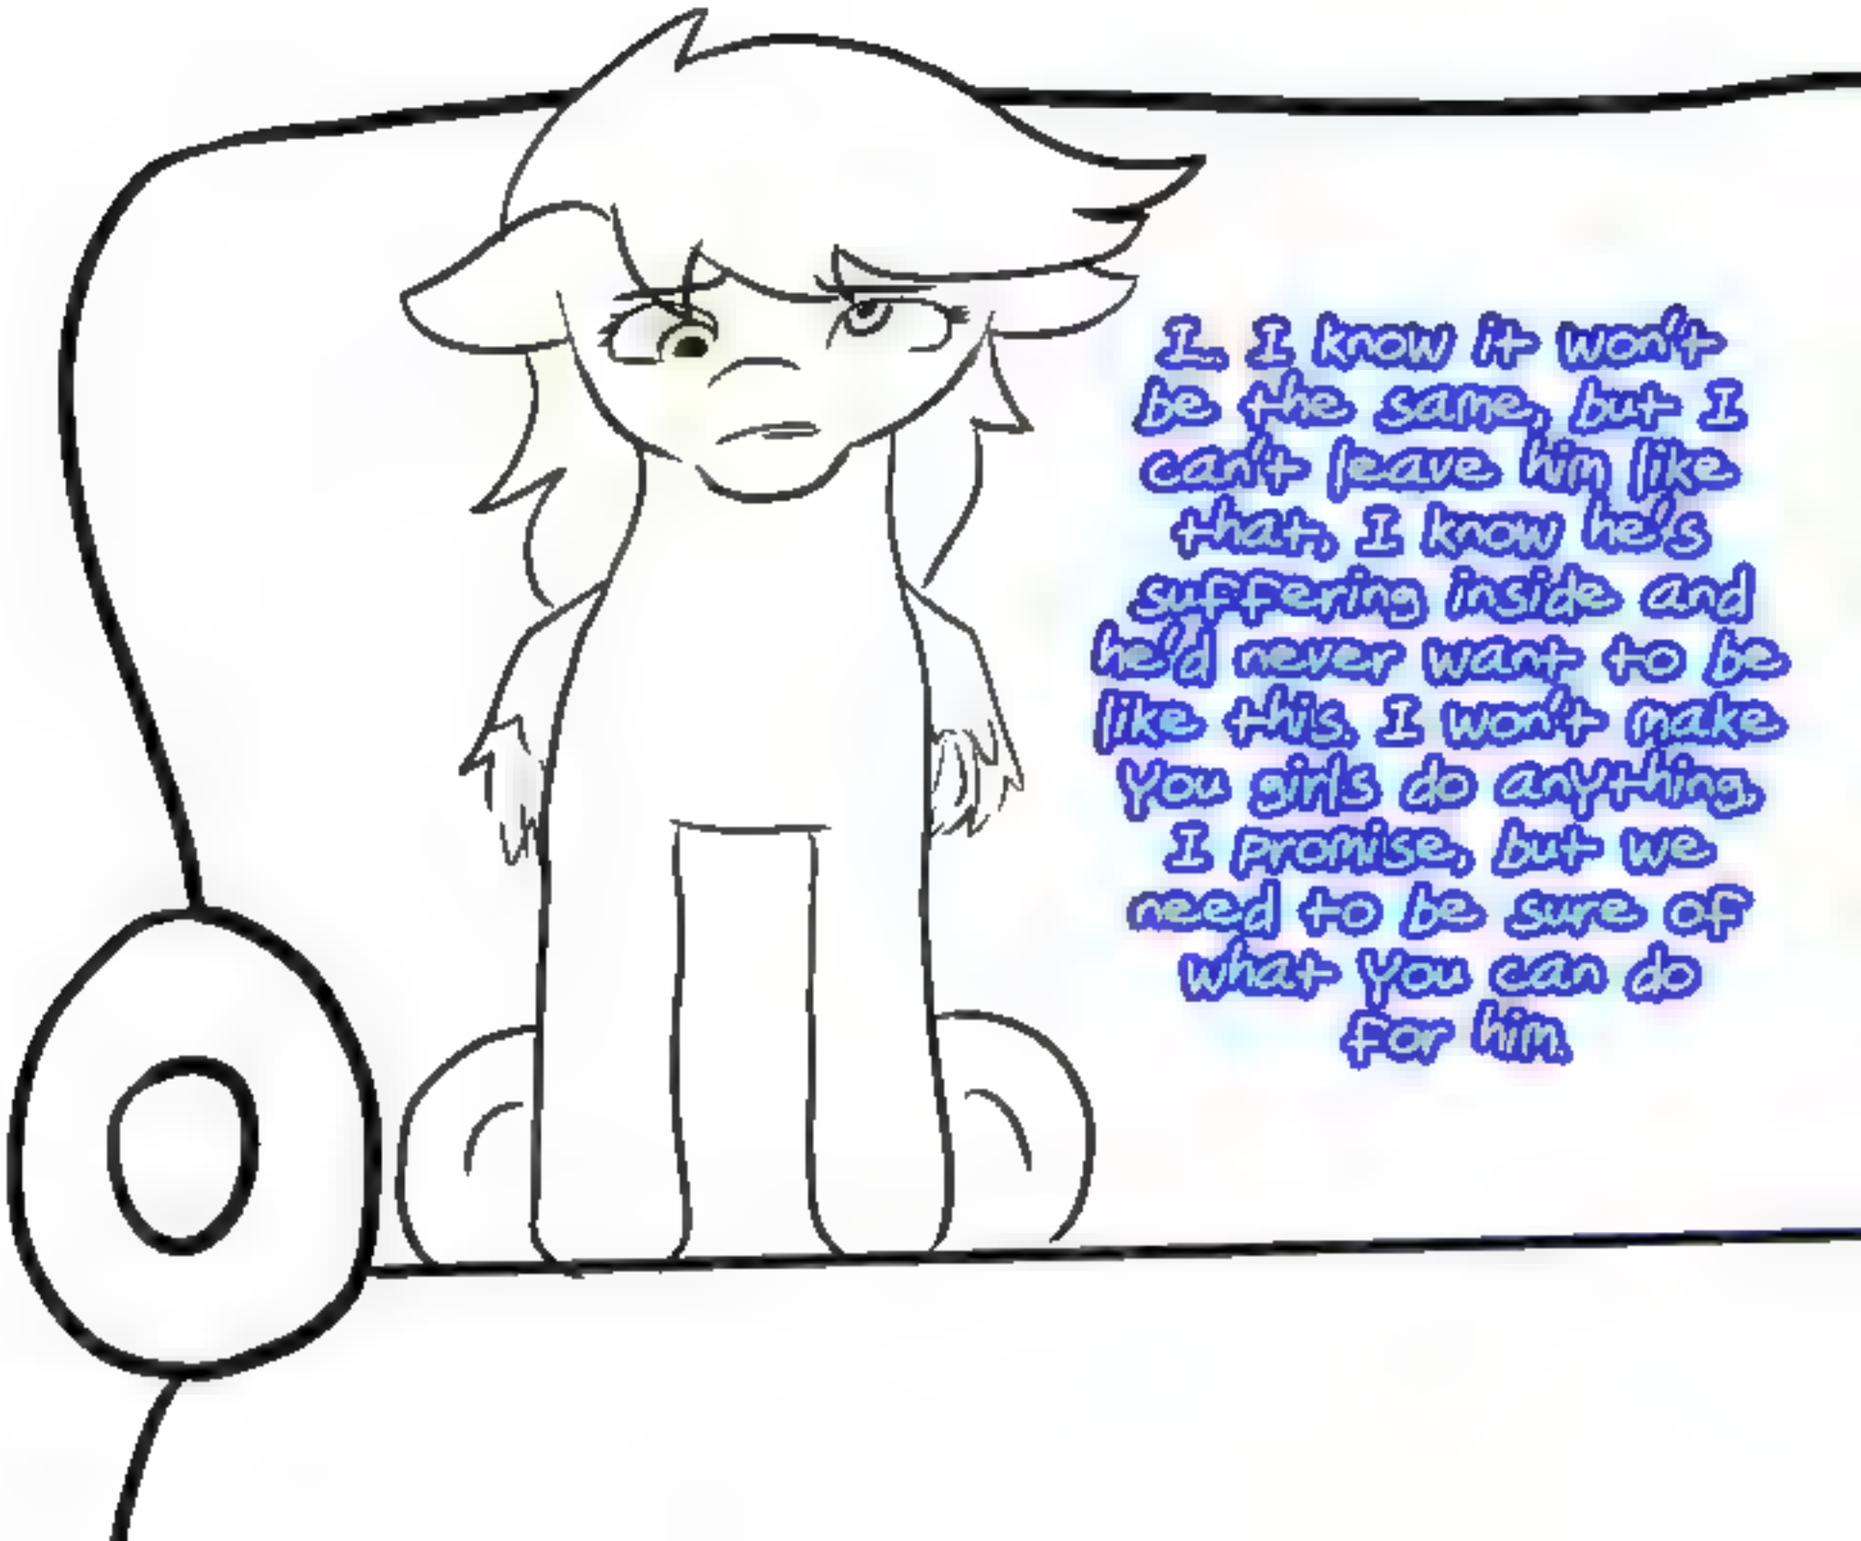


A secret base?!
That sounds exciting!

The thing about the secret base is.. we're all trying to help The Doctor. And there's maybe even a way You could help.

So he'll be back to normal!

I know it's hard to understand Dinky but all these bad things he's been doing, it's not his fault. He's very sick with a curse, and that curse makes him awful. He needs us now more than ever to cure him.



I... I know it won't be the same, but I can't leave him like that. I know he's suffering inside and he'd never want to be like this. I won't make you girls do anything, I promise, but we need to be sure of what you can do for him.

I wanna help, mama.

reggiebunny asked:
Maybe one of you should go try and find Minuette? Or get more details?
Anonymousasked:
Jack, is there a way we could find Minuette to make sure she's alright?
No point. The Master already let me in on what happened, called it a fixed point and that he's already taken care of the body.

scratchyonceagain asked:
Oh hey. Twilight s wings are gone again

kitsune-kira asked:
Do your wings come out on command, Twilight?

arceusfan493 asked
Twilight, what happened to you wings?

Yes, my wings... They faded away after a bit, but I can still feel them. I think right now it's a matter of will whether they come out or not, and I still don't feel ready to take back the throne.

teakayblog asked:
Wait, Twilight, that Gallifreyan book you're reading & translating was written by Starswirl? Maybe he was your world's version of a Time Lord before they were wiped out.

Oh, no, it's not actually Gallifreyan. He saw the Master's writings and created his own secret language that was a mix between Equestrian and Gallifreyan. It's quite complicated.

Anonymous asked:
Wait, isn't Rarity still alive? Don't they need to at least talk to her and have her relinquish her element before another can accept said element?

While we're looking at the Doctor s connections, what about the TARDIS? Generosity maybe? Anata can't leave the TARDIS so you can t scan her at Torchwood but maybe Neo can send a signal to his sonic self and try to get a reading from inside?
The TARDIS... That's interesting, she IS alive after all. We'll definitely have to check in with Neo on that.
It's really hard to say what the limitations of the elements are, what they can and can't choose as hosts.

What about the girls ditzy? Could they be element bearers? Sparkler seems like she might be a match for laughter at the very least

Anonymous asked
If the Doctor is a potential element, so too must be the Master. He threw the first Grand Galloping Gala, perhaps he is laughter?
Icuthbert65 asked:
Do you think the Master could perhaps be an element?
I don't want to picture the Elements choosing the Master of all ponies, but I can't rule out the possibility either. He's been trying to change and maybe they see that. And if it were any element? Laughter sounds like the best fit, though his laugh isn't always for the benefit of others...

Anonymous asked

Apart from Derpy, Tw light, and Jack, the Doctor seems to have very few close bonds with anyone in this universe The closest ones I can think of are Neo, Sparkler and Dinky, the Master (albeit not a positive bond), Octavia (also not a positive bond), possibly Tantamount, the Tardis herself, and...well... Minuette oh, Tantamount would be another good one to test if we can find him, yeah!

Tantamount?
A changeling that mimicked the doctor and was biologically changed because of it, and became a queen... prince? king?

Anonymous asked
If we could identify the unique energy signature that Derpy and Twilight share, then could Neo build something to track it? That could be useful in finding the other elements
I am SO close to translating that tracking spell, and when I do I'm going to have Neo help me master the spell, maybe even enhance it or make it accessible to anypony.

Anonymousasked:

Now that The Doctor is corrupted again, what are you all going to do now?

All we really can do is make as much progress as fast as we can with our research. We're getting somewhere, I just know it.

reversal-mushroom asked:
Twilight, why are you more concerned with the Doctor than Minuette?

That- that's not true... Minuette wouldn't want any of us to give up on The Doctor, no matter what happened to her. I've just... lost so many friends that I guess I've gotten numb to it. Dissociation I think... I'm just trying to be strong.

Anonymousasked:
Encountering either the master or Jack might make him relapse again, neo

I… I've lost contact with the sonic that's with The Doctor. I admit I felt a momentary sense of dread as he's destroyed it… I hadn't thought of that as something he might do… Oh dear… As for 'the one with Master and Minuette', I AM the one that was with them. That was in the past.

The doctor and Jack used to have a close connection, but after the incident, I don't think their bond is close anymore Jack is infected with Discord s magic.

I believe with the right mediators, things can be mended. This curse is not unbreakable, I've already proven that before.

Anonymousasked:

Twilight how would you describe your feelings for the doctor? Do you love him? Did you ever love him? Or would you describe yourself as more intimate friends than lovers of any k nd? If there hadn't been the pressure of the timeline, would you have seen yourself continuing a relationship with him?

It's... really complicated. I don't love him like I want to marry him and have foals, or even a committed relationship, but we're far more than just friends with benefits. If things were different, maybe I'd want more, but I understand logically that neither of us are ready for a serious relationship.

Anonymousasked:
Twilight you need to stay away from the Doctor now, or at the very least have a SIGNIFICANT safety plan to be able to fight back. derpy, jack, octavia, and now minuette... theres a pattern developing here and you're next. in the past you've said he would never hurt you, but please recognize that that's not truthful in the slightest

I'm going to do my best to make sure I'm never caught alone, not by The Doctor or any of my potential threats. Derpy has been teaching me some of the self defense she's been learning, too!

Anonymous asked:

Neo said earlier that the curse was almost alive. Is it possible that it could be partially sentient?

If magic is strong enough, it can become sentient, which goes for curses too.

Anonymous asked

It seems like Discord's control over the Doctor always goes back to what the Doctor was shown in the Caves of Truth. So, I feel like finding out and understanding what that was is an important priority. If whatever that was could be resolved in the Doctor's mind, it could greatly weaken the curse over him

I don't even know where to start.

We need to prepare for the worst possibilities... and be willing to work with them, to accept them.

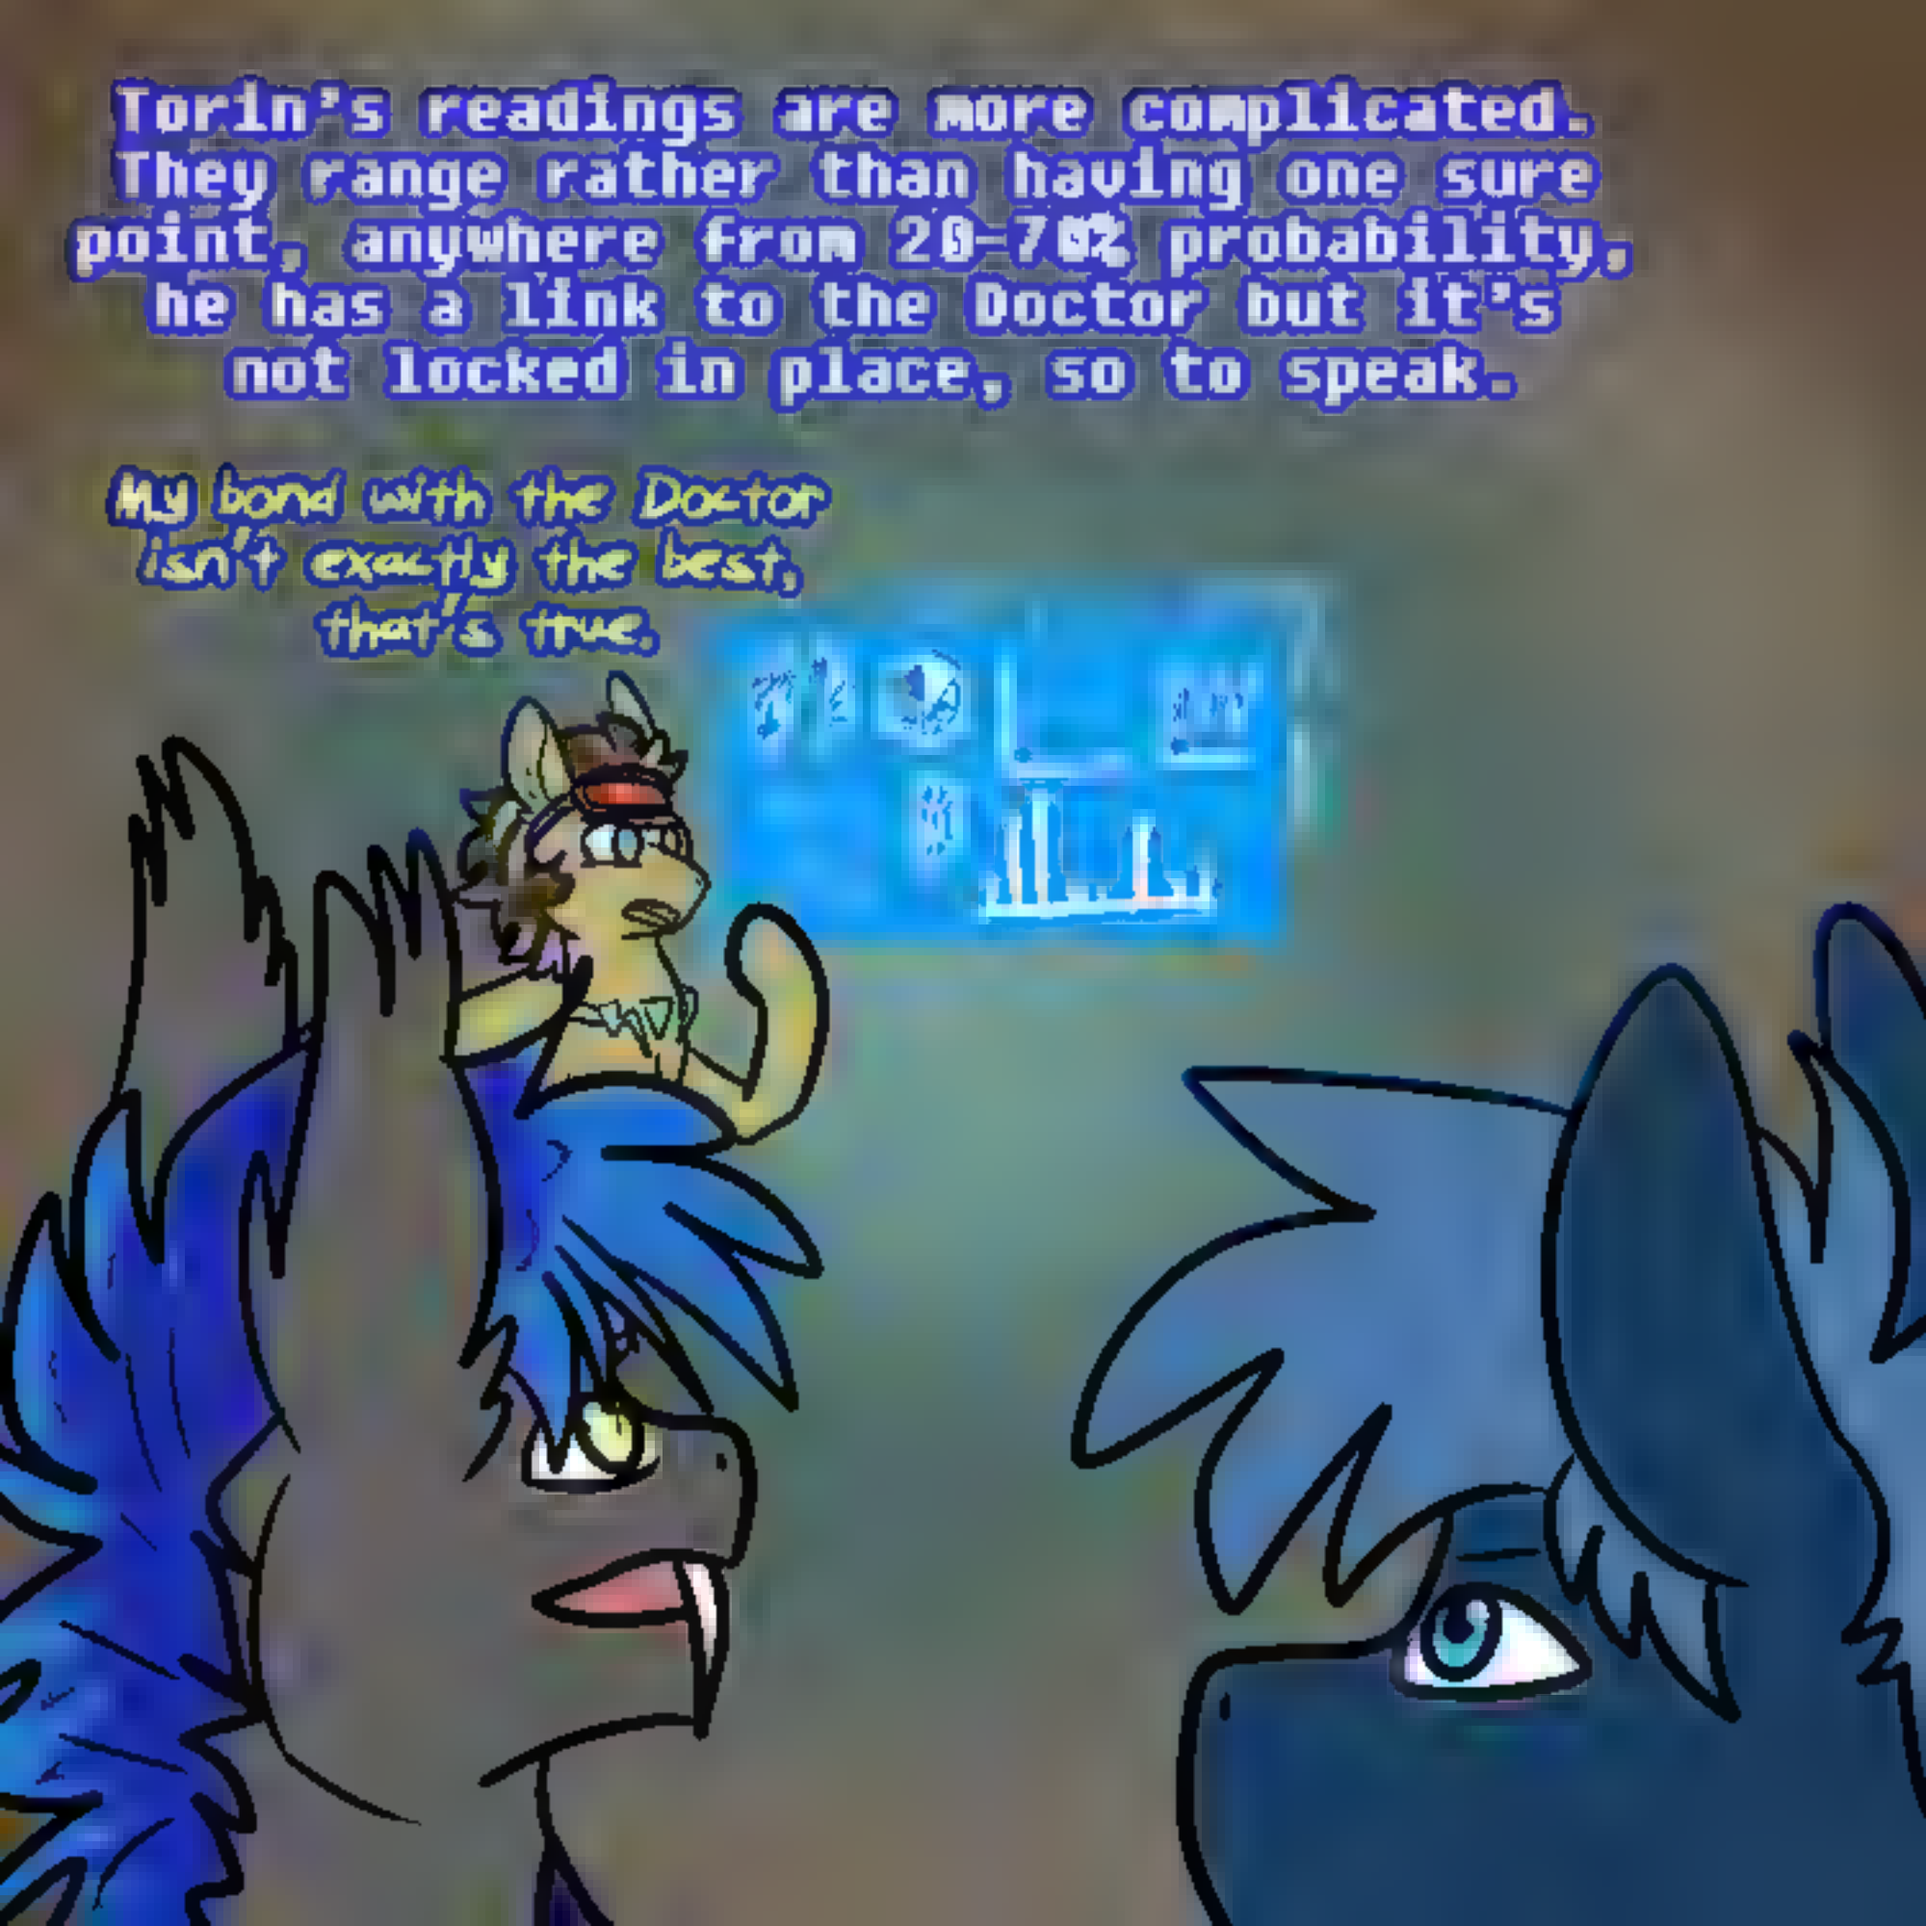
Alrighty, everyone, it's time to find out if we found any more element bearers!

So, the best way I could calculate this was by potential, or probability. None of their signals are a complete match for yours, but there is something there that says it's possible to unlock the elements.

Dinky and Sparkler have 30% probability, they are the least likely to inherit the elements but they are still clearly connected enough to qualify.

So if the girls stay out of things, they probably won't unlock the elements?
That would be correct.
Phew...

Jack had volatile readings, it's hard to confirm with his unique immortal DNA, but there is the potential of up to 80% probability. Presumably, the only thing holding him back right now is the curse.
Working on it.



Torin's readings are more complicated. They range rather than having one sure point, anywhere from 20-70% probability, he has a link to the Doctor but it's not locked in place, so to speak.
My bond with the Doctor isn't exactly the best, that's true.

Anonymous asked

Is it just me, or has Discord become far more powerful since the last time he faced the previous element bearers? Why is that?

The Discord they faced was a smaller fragment, we've been dealing with bigger fragments now, even the original flavor Discord has been dipping his claws in.

I bet once the Diamond Dogs see that Trixie has been defeated, they'll rebel against her? After all, she did take over their kingdom.

Word from Celestia is that the diamond dogs are getting much more aggressive without Trixie, I think Trixie's defeat only directed their rage to Equestria.

reversal-mushroom asked:

Why is Trixie wearing the alicorn amulet?

The amulet WAS in safe keeping, but I found out that it was stolen only a few days before Trixie attacked. How she managed to do that, no one has a clue.

The diamond dogs will surely try to come after me. I'm staying in Torchwood with Spike for now, just like Derpy is staying with her girls. My responsibility to Equestria is best spent here, rather than getting involved in the war.

According to the blue creature who helms me, my name is Domina Irritata. I allow 'Di' for short.

Why are you here now?
I am acting as his buffer which is what he needs most. Both from you, and the weight of his own poor decisions. Even now, he is making strides to heal what you have done to him, so I shall play nursemaid in his stead.

He has your note.
He is willing to talk to you, and

Anonymous asked

Hey hey hey, put that snarl away, this is good, this is what you want, he's changed, you just have to be willing to see it

Doctor, I am in a very deep pain. I have had sleepless nights, days where I couldn't look at my room without sobbing. I have had to change the layout of my home just to avoid seeing things that remind me of her.

I've had days where I can't even get up to feed myself, or bathe. I've had days where I've found myself punching holes in walls, just to feel something other than anger or sorrow.

We had a future you know? I had found a working loom, in this universe of all things, we had the option for children. I could have been a father again, without the madness that led me to abandon my first born. Tia and Lulu could have had a mother figure in their lives.

I was happy. I had something that was finally worth all the struggles I've had to endure, as a puppet, as a madman, and finally as my own being. I had someone that got my struggles, that got the way I think, and could push me to be better than I was.

And now, she's gone. Taken from me in a violent act, a message saying that I'm not allowed to be happy. I'm not allowed to be whole. I'm not allowed to be better. I'm hurting, Doctor, and I can't forget why.

She would want me to forgive, and in time I might be able to do that.
Right now, I'm not strong enough.

o o o

It does hurt, doesn't it? When you finally grow enough to love someone, and they are taken away. You never truly knew how that felt until now, you might be confused about it but I know it far too well because I let myself love again and again and again, and lost them all.

You used to treat my loves like toys to be broken without an ounce of empathy. This is the pain I carry through my lives.

The only way that I could ever fill that emptiness after loss was to find love again, to carry on living to the fullest with the lessons learned from memories of the lost.

But that doesn't really make it go away either, it's just filler for a while until it eventually makes the hole bigger. The past doesn't go away, it will always be there with you.

We both loved Patience, and I wasn't strong enough to stop the thing inside me that took her away. I've found time and time again that I can't fight this thing, that I can't stop it from hurting others, from killing.

Blame me all you want for being weak willed, but just know it wasn't MY will to kill her. And I think you and I both want what did it to be gone for good.

Things need to change, Doctor. For all our sakes.

People can change, you have changed, he has changed

Wait if you broke her, does that mean the TARDIS is ..dead?

Ananta was an avatar that took a lot of energy for her to manipulate. Shattering her drained that energy, she would have been close to dead.
Thankfully, Patience and I were both obsessed with the operation and maintenance of old Time Lord Tech, like the Type 40. She's in recovery mode, being supplied with all the materials and energy she needs to fully repair.

Do yourself a favor and don't poke the grizzly that is Di. She's absolutely adorable, but she's still a Type 90.

Hey, if the Doctor's wings were torn off and a lot of the chaos energy was focused in them... Is Hyde still there?

Hey, Master, the Doctor d d have a therapist before, maybe they can work with him again?

The news articles I found stated that he had been arrested and hospitalized for attempting to lobotomize several of his clients. Raving it was the cure.
What? That- that can't be, he... was he infected by the curse too?
That seems most likely.

While I am a container for the infection, you, Doctor are a carrier for it. I sequester it, for others it's like a plague if you are around them long enough.

So now I'm under quarantine.

More or less.

schlattburity asked:

Could you ever forgive Theta? Do you think after recovery and everything else.. you could ever be friends again? Would it be Worth it to you?

I wish I could say I was your friend from so long ago, but that's not who I am. We'd never have what we once had but... We can at least agree on an alliance, can't we?

I do not know. / I'm not going to say it's impossible, but I still need time.

Actually, didn t you give up your life to stop the Council?

They had driven me mad. They used me to save themselves, and at the end of it all, they were going to sacrifice me for themselves. Well, I had a moment of clarity, and decided, "Nah." The rest is history.

You really surprised me then, if any moment were to mark you starting to change, I think that would be it.

Discord was literally created from him Aso, he's the reason why the Changelings came into being

You were the one who corrupted the changelings?

And I heard you were the one who cured them.

I gave all I could of my love to them. Now I struggle to feel it.

teakayblog asked:
It's hard, isn't it, Doc, when you've got an unfillable love void? When you hate who you've been and who you are?

I can't love myself or the ones I cared about, but when I do manage to feel it I fall so hard that I drown, and I can't tell what my true feelings are.

To be fair, when they were fae, they were capable of generating all the love they needed through acts of kindness and kinship.

What you did is restore that ability to them. I think, with a little creativity, your love could be resparked by them.

As long as you don't take back what I gave them.

Never. They've suffered enough by my hooves.

Now that I've had time, and Slate's help, I've realized that the biggest regret I have is Titania. Chrysalis... I bound her to my will, and then left her to her own devices. Until the Canterlot Invasion, I hadn't even thought about her.

Should I pay them a visit, to see if I could make amends?

I don't know if it's such a good idea to re-traumatize them, they're probably doing well enough without you. Don't bother them unless you absolutely have to.

You're right. Maybe a project for the future.

Considering how you just murdered my wife, I think I'm justified in keeping an eye on you.

Then you go off and make contact with the Element of Magic, and Derpy. I HAD to do something to keep them safe.
How do you know Derpy?

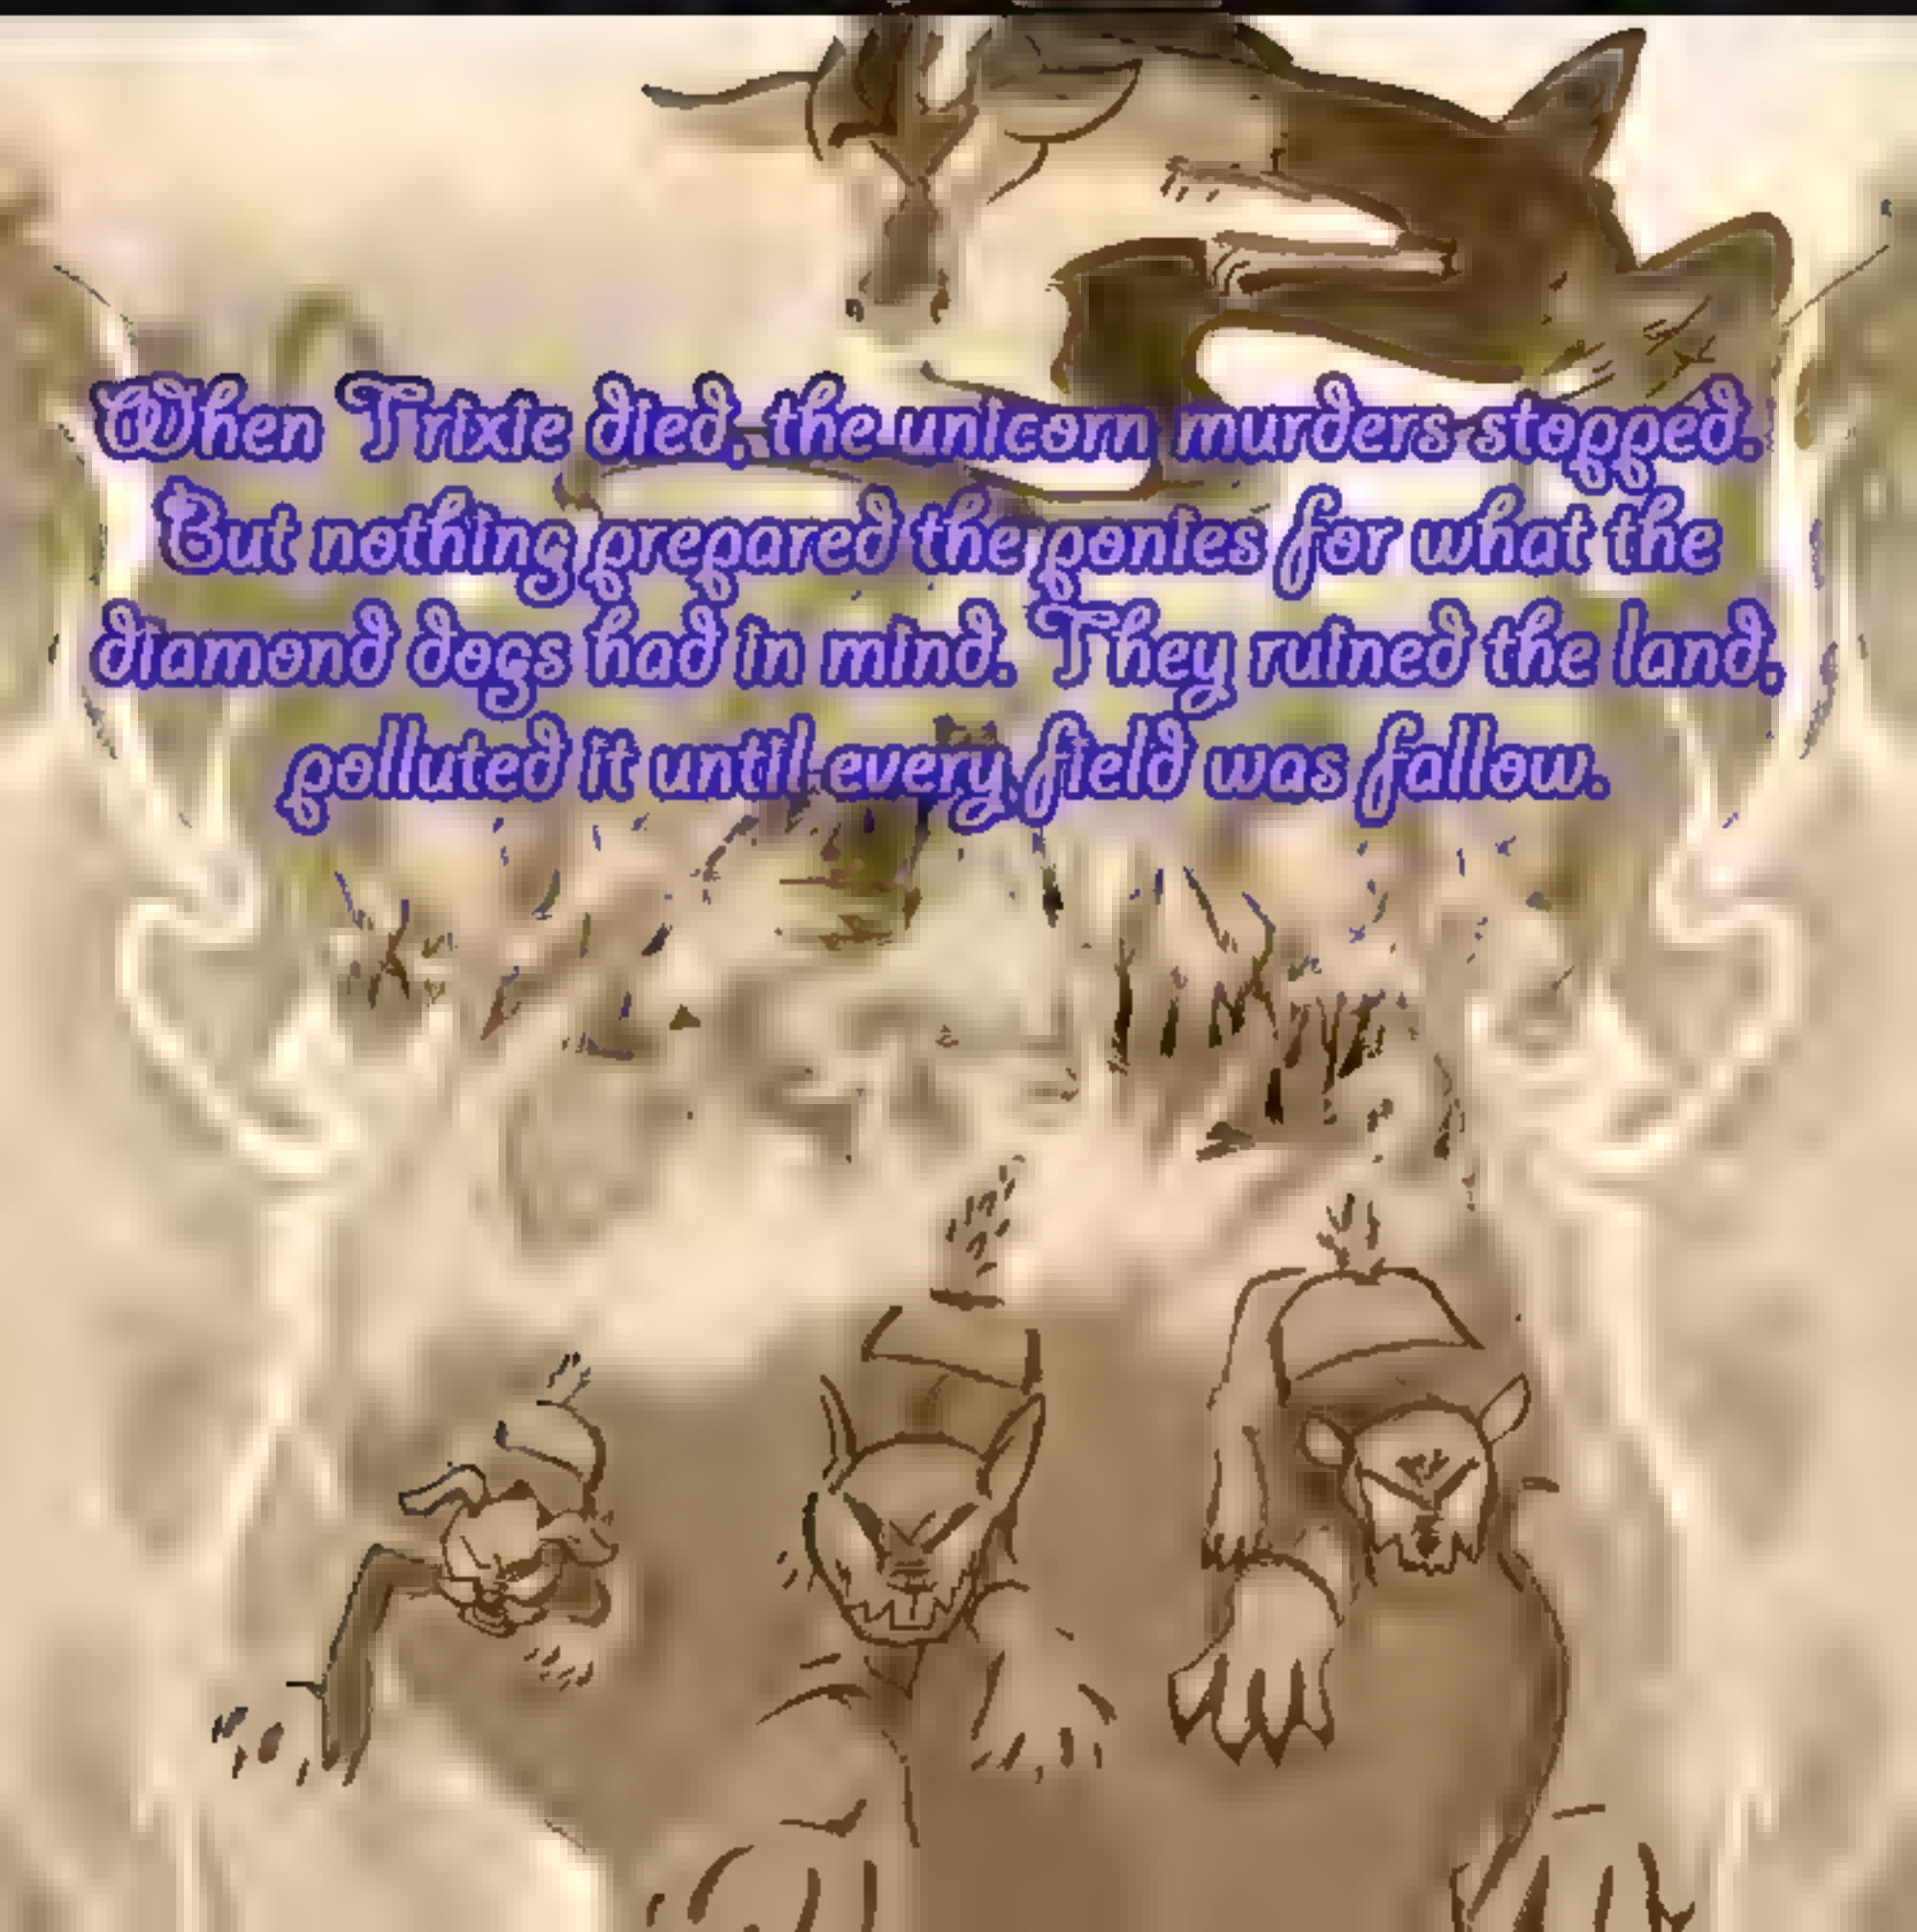
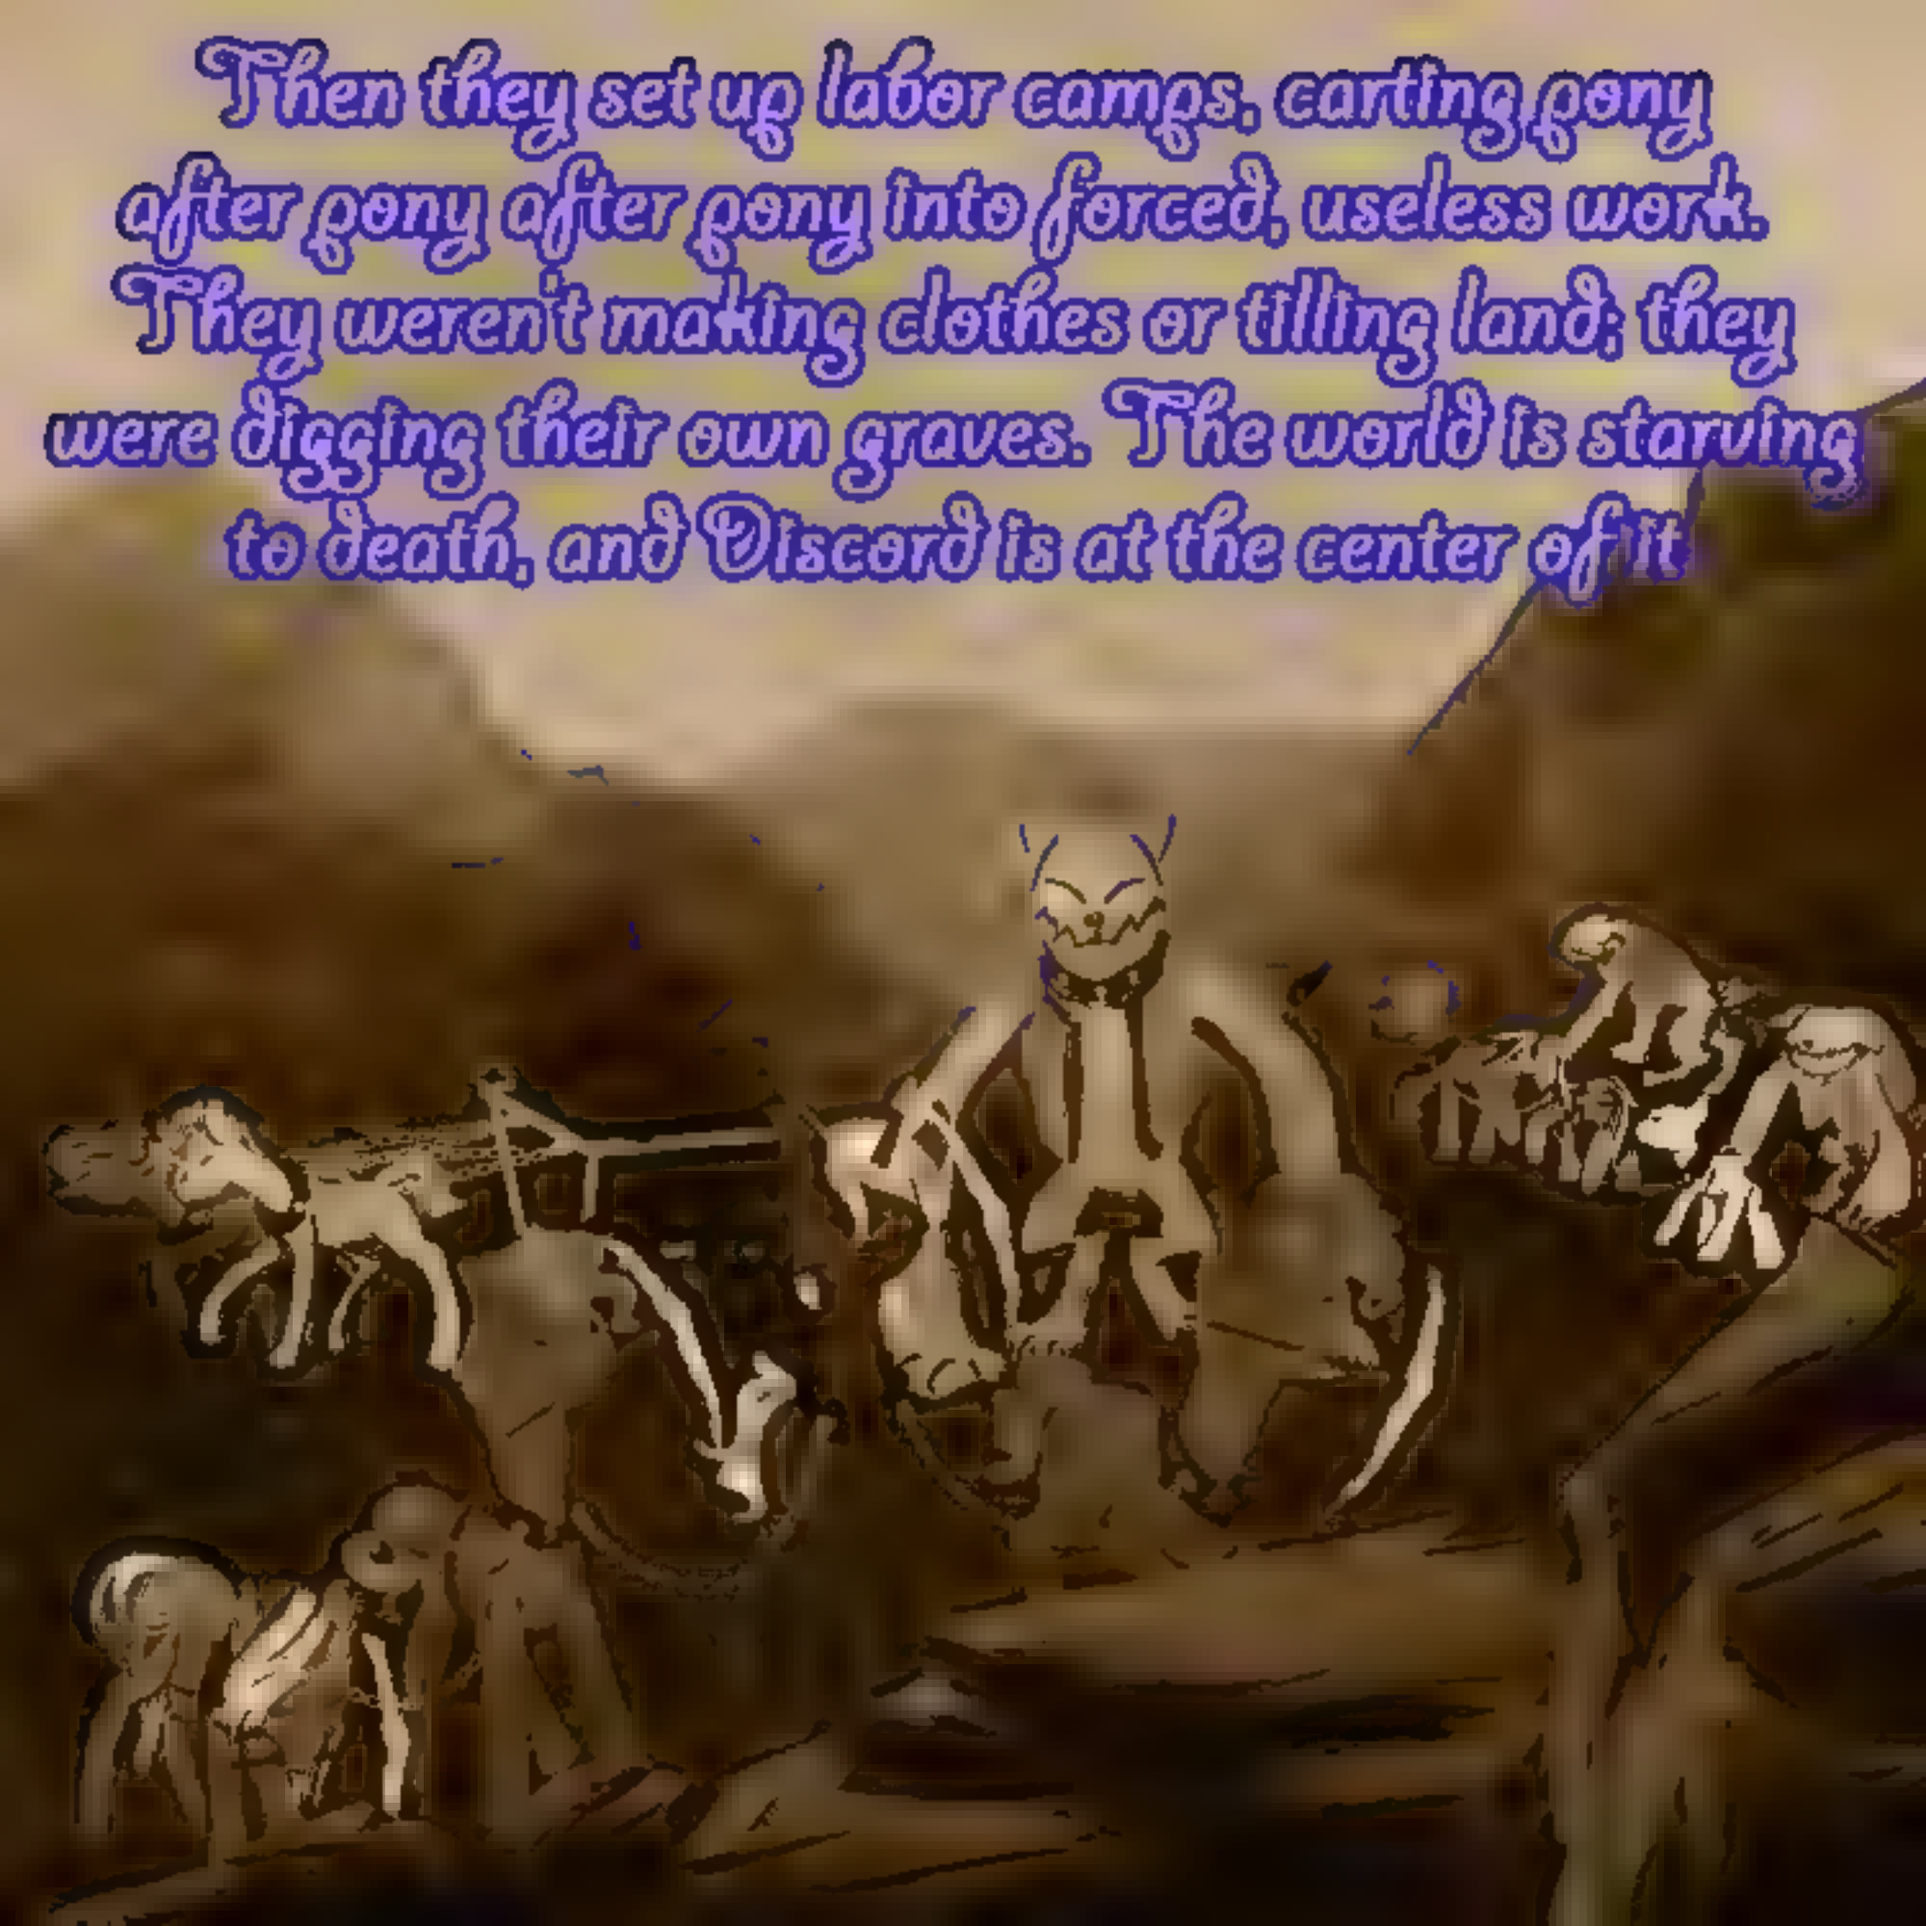
While you're all tucked away safe in Torchwood, I fear chaos will strike on the outside world



When Trixie died, the unicorn murders stopped.
But nothing prepared the ponies for what the diamond dogs had in mind. They ruined the land, polluted it until every field was fallow.



Then they set up labor camps, carting pony after pony after pony into forced, useless work. They weren't making clothes or tilling land; they were digging their own graves. The world is starving to death, and Discord is at the center of it

Anonymous asked
Have you heard from the princesses recently twilight? Celestia or otherwise? It might be good to inform them of your efforts/seek advice, or even just to catch up. Speaking of, have you made any efforts to clear pinkies name?
The Princesses are adamant about me re-gathering the Elements while they focus on the war. They're currently walling off a part of Equestria to protect what citizens they can. Pinkie's name WAS cleared but in all the chaos, I'm not sure who even noticed.

Anonymous asked:
Twilight, I don't get it. Why would the Diamond Dogs be angry? She probably took over their kingdom by using the amulet's power. Shouldn't they be glad she's dead?
Their canine nature made them incredibly loyal to their new master. I'm sure she even prepared them for the possibility of her death. I also believe Discord had some- if not a lot of influence on their behavior.

Anonymous asked:
Is Discord's own power making himself lose control? Could the full might of his chaos magic unintentionally destroy the very fabric of reality even at the cost of his own life simply because he can't help himself?
I don't think there's anything unintentional about it. he very much wants to take the universe- no- the multiverse down with him. but he wants to do it with a bang.

Anonymous asked
Is it just me, or has Discord become far more powerful since the last time he faced the previous element bearers? Why is that?

It was only a fraction of his true self that we had faced before. The fractions are finding ways to return to their prime source, making him more powerful.

Anonymous asked:

What exactly happened to the Neo in the Doctor's sonic once it was destroyed?

I sent out every bit of data I could from the sonic before it was destroyed. I can't tell you how much I may have lost from that but I did salvage quite a bit. I don't know how to describe the feeling to you, you'd have to know what having more than one mind is like.

Anonymous asked:

Haw? Neo isn't testing himself? He's pretty darn close to the Doc

Anonymous asked:

Is Neosurgeon able to scan himself and see if he is the element of Honesty as suggested before?

I've been struggling to find a way to scan myself. I am not organic so I can't be scanned in the same way. There's also a matter of figuring out if it's my core or anything connected to me that has the potential to bare an element. Twilight might have better luck figuring it out.

Which brings me to my next update
I've managed to figure out the spell for locating an element for certain! I've tested it on Derpy to confirm for sure she was the element of kindness, and it worked!

The only problem is I can only cast for one element at a time and it takes a few days to charge.

Anonymous asked:

Anonymous asked:
Derpy, how are you taking the revelation of Professor Paces true identity? How did learning that new information about him effect how you see him?

I don't know. I want to believe the stuff he told me was from his genuine self and if he's the reason Torchwood is here then he's doing good, right? I think he's helping, and that's what matters.

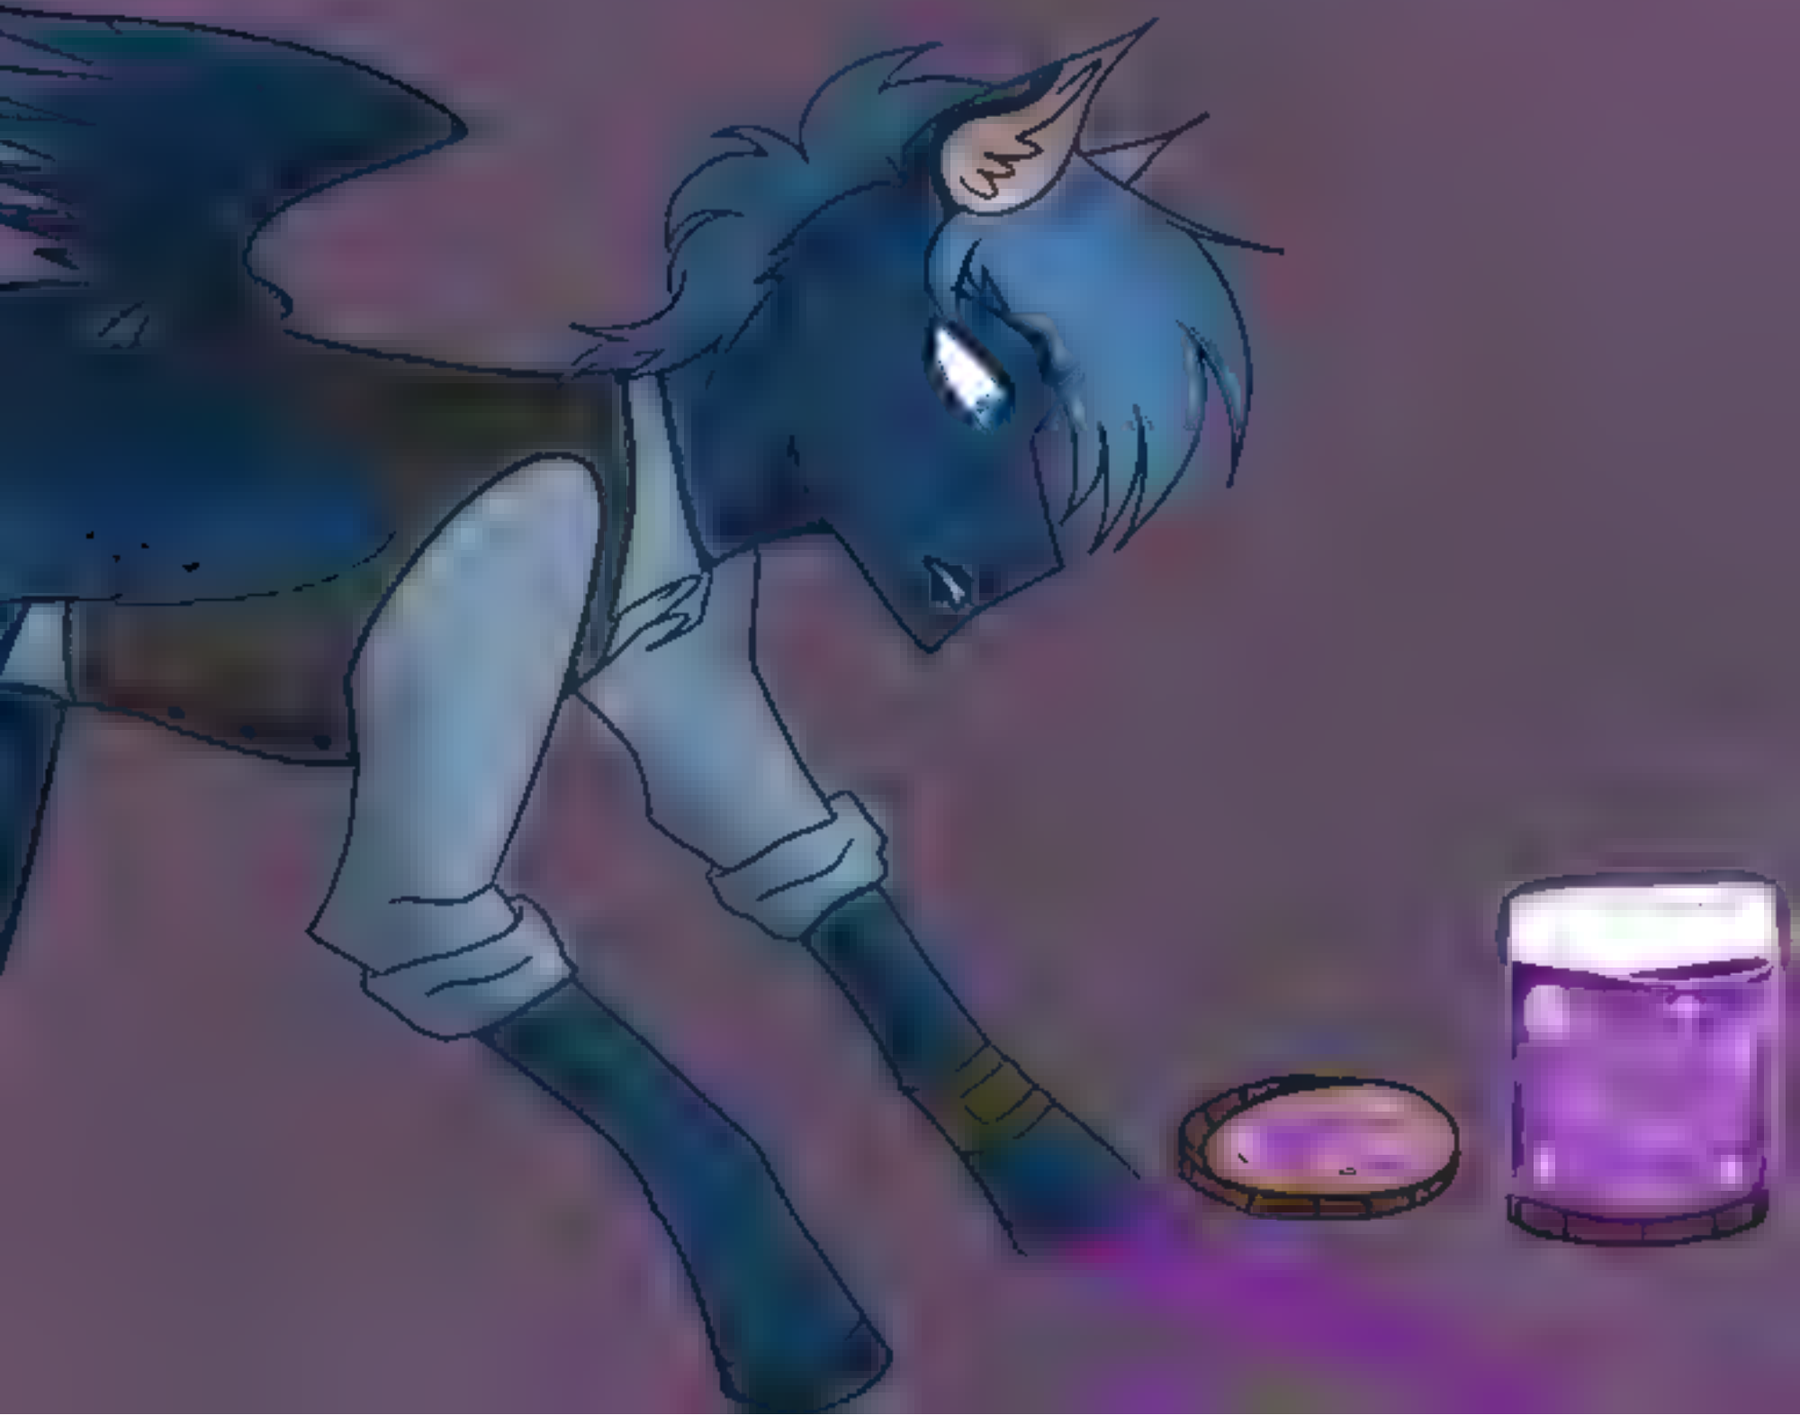
Considering what happened to Minuette, I'd advise against describing the Master as a friend when the Doctor is around, Ditzy. Friendship isn't exactly the same as romance, I guess, but the Discorded Doctor gets jealous in a kind of (very) murdery sort of way, it seems.

Anonymous asked

If we're looking for anyone that has a close relationship with the Doctor, then logic dictates that another two possible candidates are Minuette and the Master. The only problem is that Minuette is missing and might possibly be dead, and the Master has been the Doctor's enemy for a very long time.

Anonymous asked
The Master as laughter? Well, Minuette did say "I live free, and I laugh all the time at his side." so he may be worth checking, if he's even able to be tracked

I guess we'll find out once Twilight scans for laughter. She's looking for loyalty next.



Anonymous asked:
Personal feelings aside twi, you have to admit that the master has done a lot to build equestria and keep it safe. He even raised the princesses and they seek his advice frequently. Surely you can trust their judgement that he has the best intentions for your world?
I've had a lot of time to think about it, and I can appreciate what he's done. I haven't really forgiven what happened between us, but I think I can move on.

jdb1984 asked:
Even if you find more Element bearers, don t they need to be good friends for the elements to work?
I only knew my new friends for a very short time before the elements were activated between us, it wasn't a close friendship, it was a newly forged strong friendship.

Why are the diamond dogs being so mean to us? What did we ever do to them?
It's complicated, honey.

Like with The Doctor?

A bit like the Doctor, yeah.

She should be left alone, she's been really cranky lately.

Uncle Warden?
Nearly done here Dinky, stay behind the white lines and tell me what's up.

I'm just getting sick and tired of everypony sugar coating things and being vague about stuff. I know You give straight answers and You won't treat me like a baby.
I can't promise you all the answers, but I can at least speak with you on your level of intelligence. What do you want to ask?

It feels like almost everyone else wants to forgive the Doctor for what he's done, but what if I can't? I'm sure you don't want to forgive him either, right? So do I have to?
No. You don't have to forgive anything. When you grow up, some wounds never fully close, and being reminded of them makes them raw, and hurt all over again.

Forgiveness is something I think is earned, something that has to be sought for, struggled for, and then achieved when you mean it. Do I forgive him for hurting my sister? No. Do I think he's beyond forgiveness? Nso no.

Is... is it bad for me to be mad at mom...? I know she got hurt bad but she keeps trying to act like everything is fine.

Your mom copes with being hurt by trying to forgive and move on. She doesn't like the feelings of what not doing so brings to her. Your sister and her are a LOT alike in that regard.

You and I, we see how things are, and we seek to understand how you are feeling and how to make it better. Empathy vs. Sympathy. I feel vs. I understand. So no, your frustrations aren't bad, even I get frustrated at this situation.

How do you deal with all of this? How do you stay strong?
You take it one step at a time. I had to learn a long time ago when I needed to help, and when I needed to shut my yap and let someponY vent. So the first step you can make is to watch. Help where you can, listen when you can't.

Thanks, You're probably the only one who's been totally honest

Okay, Doc, this acting out and beating up anyone who does or says something you don't like has to stop. What is this accomplishing? Seriously, get a grip man. You're not gonna to get answers by beating others. It's not gonna undo their actions. No wonder you're locked up.

Whenever I snap, I have a bit of a blackout and I can't control my actions. If I had a way to stop it, I would. This one didn't feel like the others though, it wasn't a blind rage. It was very focused, almost instinctual.

crisscross-batter-and-puppeteer asked:

Is this a good time to bring up the fact that the Master s promise to end Derpy and the girls was an empty threat, or will that just make things worse?

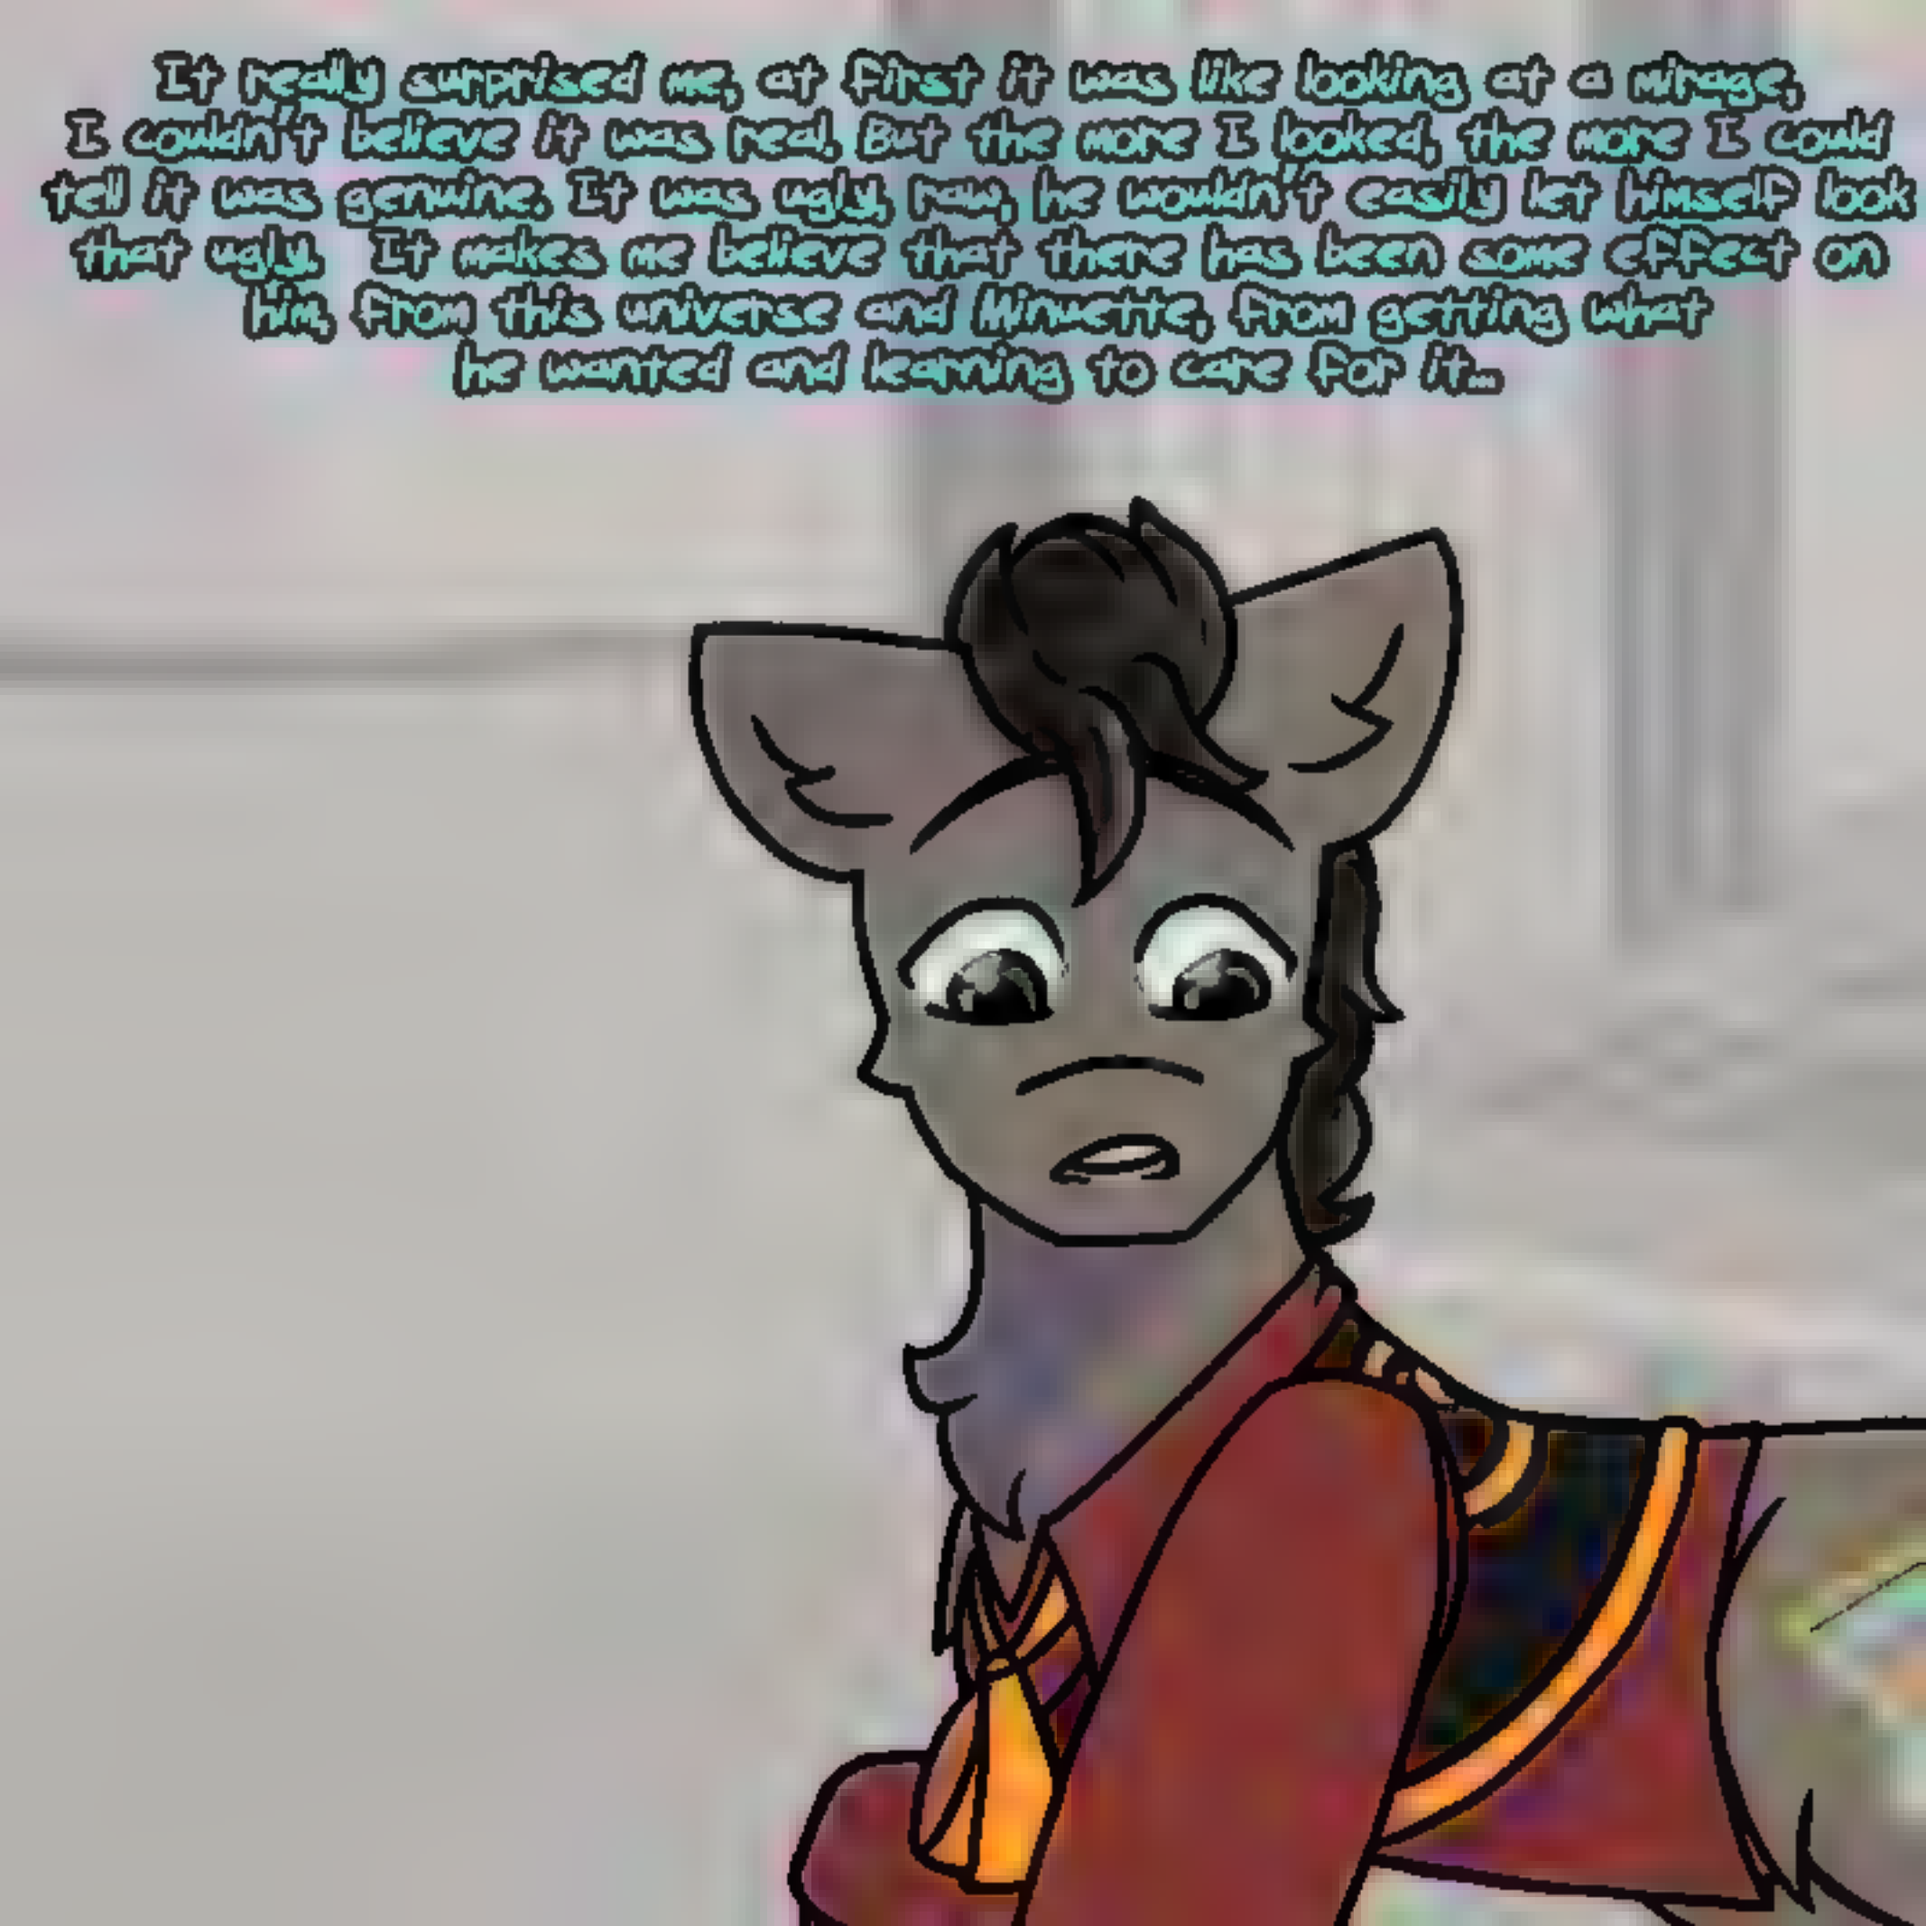
why the aggression, doc? thought you didnt give a shit about derpy anymore. what do you care that the master knows her?

That wasn't me being protective of her, it was me being angry that my almost life-long nemesis found a way into every aspect of my life, even the most sensitive one.

Anonymous asked:

We know crying is important to you. How do you feel after seeing his tears?

It really surprised me, at first it was like looking at a mirage. I couldn't believe it was real. But the more I looked, the more I could tell it was genuine. It was ugly, raw, he wouldn't easily let himself look that ugly. It makes me believe that there has been some effect on him, from this universe and Minuette, from getting what he wanted and learning to care for it...



It's cruel, but I think it's about time he suffered such a loss, it's about time he learned to cry. I don't think he was meant to have a happy ending. He finally knows what pain truly is.

1-am-d3ath asked:
Keep your head straight doc. Like it or not, twi needs you. And it's only gonna get worse if you don't straighten out.
I do need to make a plan besides do nothing, really think about who I am. But it's hard when I know I'm not really myself anyways.

Why are there just random crayons and paper left in the zero room with you?
That was because my pilot used the Zero Room as a temporary nursery for the children of refugees from a lost planet before it was used to contain the Doctor. They were left there to give him some form of stimulation Winette really was the best thing to happen to the Master.

Why do you think that you don't feel as much animosity towards the Master now? What changed? I don't think that him beating you would somehow make you see less red than before, so what's different now?

I think it was the beating actually ripping those wings off felt like it ripped out the worst of my hatred with them... There was something much darker in me than there is now...

Tell me doctor. Do you regret hurting Derpy. After all you went far out to write letters.

That's one way of looking at it, I suppose. Well, that'll be a treat I'm sure.
